Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35

U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 2-15 and 24 are drawn to a mixtures of dyes and compositions comprising said mixtures , classified in class 8, subclass 638-643.
- II. Claims 16-18, drawn to a measuring and testing process, classified in class 8, subclass 400.
- III. Claims 19-20, drawn coating composition, classified in class 524, various subclasses
- IV. Claims 21,22 and 25, drawn to a toner and method of use, classified in class 430 subclass 107.1
- V Claim 23, drawn to an ink, classified in class 106 subclass 494

Claim 1 is a linking component and will be examined with the group that is elected.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions II and I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, the black compound can be made by the use of two or more than two ionic components or by adding carbon black or another inorganic pigment to the mixture.

Groups III, IV and V are distinct compositions which incorporate the black colorant compound of claim 1 and are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions. In the instant case, the coating composition of group III cannot function as an ink or a toner; the toner cannot function as an ink or coating composition, and the ink cannot function as a toner or a coating composition.

Group II is unrelated to groups III, IV or V because the process does not result in the product of any of those claims.

Inventions I and (III or IV or V) are related as mutually exclusive species in an intermediate-final product relationship. Distinctness is proven for claims in this relationship if the intermediate product is useful to make other than the final product (MPEP § 806.04(b), 3rd paragraph), and the species are patentably distinct (MPEP § 806.04(h)). In the instant case, the intermediate product, the color concentrate, is deemed to be useful as an intermediate product to make the product of any of the in any of the above groups (toner, ink, latex paint composition) or it can be used alone as a textile printing composition, and the inventions are deemed patentably distinct since there is nothing on this record to show them to be obvious variants. Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions anticipated by the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for one Group is not required for the other Groups, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Claim 1 is generic to a plurality of disclosed patentably distinct species comprising two anionic dye components complexed with a colorless cationic component, two cationic dye components complexed with a colorless anionic component, a cationic dye component complexed with an anionic dye component, and an anionic dye component complexed with a cationic colorless component. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species, even though this requirement is traversed.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
